

LEGION PLACED IN LINE FOR UNIVERSAL TRAINING

Testimony Is Given Before Senate Military Affairs Committee by Leading Members.

The American Legion is in favor of universal military training for the United States, according to testimony given before the Senate military affairs committee yesterday afternoon by Col. F. W. Galbraith of Cincinnati, a member of a special committee of the legion.

The Regular Army should be reduced to the lowest number consistent with foreign garrison necessities and domestic duties, Col. Galbraith said. He advocated a greatly expanded general staff on which citizen officers would serve with those of the regular establishment.

Much deadwood should be immediately eliminated from the office personnel of the Regular Army," he said. He also urged continuation of officers' training camps to prepare citizen officers for service in time of war.

Franklin D. Oller of Philadelphia, national commander of the legion, said that legion delegates from each state would meet here Monday to discuss the details of military legislation.

with the special committee. Col. M. J. Foreman, Chicago, Illinois National Guard, declared the American Legion would make every effort to foster public sentiment for universal training.

Other members of the legion committee were Allan Tukey, Omaha, Neb., chairman; M. J. Foreman, Chicago; H. L. Stinson, former Secretary of War, New York; and Thomas W. Miller, Delaware.

Churchill Godley of Johnson county, N. C., who was convicted last June of an attack on a girl while in the electric chair Monday, Gov. Bickett declining to interfere with the judgment of the court.

FOR CLOSER RELATIONS OF EMPLOYEES WITH BOSS

British Official Foresees Better Conditions in Patient Negotiation of Issues.

LONDON, November 25 (Correspondence of the Associated Press).—Sir Vincent Caillard, retiring president of the Federation of British Industries, told the members of the federation the other day that he thought employers did not take their wage-earners sufficiently into their confidence. At the same time he believed labor had been in the past suspicious and irresponsible. He expressed the belief that the workers should be given a voice in the settlement of general conditions and should be allowed to make recommendations to the employers concerning rates of pay for piecework and other matters.

Employers, he said, would gain much more by patiently negotiating with their employees than by discontinuing operations. Different standards of wages, he added, were producing unrest all over the world. Therefore, he believed international action in adjustment of labor matters would be beneficial.

TRIBUTE TO PASTOR OF FORTY YEARS

Friends of Rev. Dr. Samuel H. Greene Extol His Long Service.

The auditorium of Calvary Baptist Church was filled last evening for the final event in the celebration of the fortieth anniversary of Rev. Dr. Samuel H. Greene's pastorate. Dr. George W. Smith, director of the United States geological survey, presided and introduced the speakers. Rev. Dr. Joseph T. Kelly, pastor of Fourth Presbyterian Church, pronounced the invocation.

Rev. Dr. Randolph H. McKim, rector of the Church of the Epiphany, the first speaker, emphasized Dr. Greene's spirituality and "calm, quiet methods—free from all sensationalism—representing not an outward creed, but the old gospel that men will always need."

Dr. James V. Aitchison, president of the board of promotion, Northern Baptist convention, said: "Speaking for the great Baptist brotherhood, north and south, I want to say that this pastorate represents a triumph of divine grace. There have been divisions between the north and south, but there are no divisions between north and south when it comes to Dr. Greene. Our hearts have always united in him."

Congratulations from Many Sources. Prof. Louis D. Bliss read many telegrams of congratulation and extracts from letters from prominent Baptists and others all over the country—leading clergymen, college presidents, professional and business—with a letter of regret from John Joy Edson, who was unable to participate in the evening's program.

Dr. George C. Johnson, pastor of Immanuel Baptist Church, and Dr. J. J. Muir, pastor of Temple Baptist Church, spoke on behalf of the Baptists and the ministerial conference of the District of Columbia. Dr. Johnson said of Dr. Greene: "Here you have held aloft the beacon light of the old-time gospel, while the will-o'-wispes of modern speculation are drawing so many away to the swamps of darkness and despair. Dr. Muir said he was glad we are living in an age when the flowers are not all placed on the casket, and he was happy to place his bouquet in the hands of the living."

Rev. Dr. John W. Hamilton, chancellor of the American University, said that, although a Methodist, he had great sympathy with the Baptists, and further: "I congratulate you, my brother pastor, on these forty years of holy, heavenly, blessed triumph. What is the meaning of 'forty years' so often recurring in the Scriptures? You have it here tonight."

Justice Wendell P. Stafford, speaking of Dr. Greene's broad capacity and varied gifts, said: "Trader, doctor, lawyer, politician, any or all of these this man might have been—and yet he chose to be a pastor. He did so because he was willing to lay all his gifts at the feet of poor, suffering, sorrowing, confused, blundering humanity."

The response by the pastor was brief and characteristic. He said: "This has been a week of very sweet embarrassment. I should be either more or less than human if my cup did not overflow. The great majority of those who welcomed me here forty years ago have gone over to the other side, and the years are laden with precious memories. I think nothing has touched me more profoundly than the voices from the city I love so well. They have made me feel how broad is the comradeship of the cross and how close our hearts come to each other when we are one in Him."

The benediction was pronounced by Dr. J. E. Briggs, pastor of the Fifth Baptist Church.

By order of the master.

J. H. HIXON, Secretary.

Chairman Fordney Says Congress Will Not Grant Them.

The present Congress has no intention of authorizing additional loans or extensions of credit by the government to European governments, according to a statement made today by Representative Joseph W. Fordney, representative of Michigan, chairman of the ways and means committee. Mr. Fordney said that he was prompted to make this statement at this time because of indications from various sources that appeal to Congress is to be made soon for financial help for some foreign people.

Is "Bitterly Opposed."

"I do not think the people of the United States are willing to extend their existing heavy loans to foreign governments and peoples or to arrange for and back additional credits," said Mr. Fordney. "I am bitterly opposed to any such extension and I think our committee feels as I do on this question, and the assent of this committee must be had first for additional loans and commitments."

President's Request Heeded.

"It is just as well to keep in mind the fact that shortly after signing the armistice President Wilson urged Congress to authorize a loan to foreign governments both to help our country and to stabilize conditions in this country, and Herbert Hoover said that unless this country loaned $4,000,000 to Europe the boom would drop out of prices in this country. We acted as the President asked, but he did not the Hoover recommendation. Neither event the President and Hoover prophesied came to pass, and prices have soared in this country."
